LIONS DO FLOWING FOR NEW PARK

Wilford Duffy, go-getting member of the Newmarket Lions club, was turning the sod of the new park all day Wednesday with a tractor-plow. He took a few minutes off, however, to let Lion Bill White get the feel of the tractor. Mr. White learned to plow when he was a youngster in England.

Gibney, Sonny Townsley, Mickey Smith, Doug May, Bomar Groves and Wink Bernard. Bill Roberts and Austin Hunt are not in town now. Art Randall, last year's coach, is training the North Bay Trappers this year.

Declares He Didn't Set Fire To Father's Buildings

Arthur Sanders, Jr., Committed For Trial On Arson Charge

Arthur B. Sanders, Jr., charged with setting fire to buildings of the Lakeview hotel, Jackson's Point, belonging to Arthur B. Sanders, Sr., and Harry W. Sanders, elected trial in a higher court, in police court here Tuesday.

Magistrate Robert Forsyth committed him for trial.

"The fire was at the annex, and they had it pretty well under control," said Assistant Fire Chief Frank Culverwell of Sutton. "A young man came to me and said that there was a fire in the cottage. I said it was a fire, but I could see the fire. I gave the alarm."

"What was the damage to the beach house?"

"About $500."

"Where did it start?"

"From a lavatory."

"The fire spread from Annex No. 3 to Annex No. 2 and both were destroyed?"

"Yes."

"Was there a wind?"

"Not a high wind."

"In your opinion could the fire in the Beach House have spread to Annex No. 3?"

"No."

"Then, in your opinion, there were two separate fires?"

"Yes."

"Were the fires accidental, in your opinion?"

"When the young man showed me the second fire, the first thing that struck me was that the two places had been set afire."

In Third Effort Reds Get Two Run Edge Over Stars

Softball Brought To Conclusion With Game
Here Friday

Newmarket Redmen took a close 7-5 decision from the Lake Simcoe All-Stars in the third and last game of the series, at the Stuart Scott grounds on Friday evening of last week.

As in the previous encounter, the game was closely contested from beginning to end with neither team being able to forge ahead to any extent. Mitchell, All-Star pitcher, turned in a good performance and kept the Reds' heavy artillery from doing a great deal of damage. Niles, for Newmarket, also twirled a heady game and was given good support from his teammates.

This game finishes up the 1938 softball season for the locals, after a very successful season. The first two games ended in ties.

Why Not Provide A Stronger Light In Tower, Asks Citizen

(Contributed)

Last week residents at the south end of the town observed that after five or six years of darkness and disuse, the beacon light on the top of the civic water tower was again showing signs of effulgence. On enquiry we learn that the municipality had installed a new 1,500-watt bulb.

Whether the absence of any bulb during the years past has been responsible in any way for the breaking open and robbery on three different occasions of much cash, etc., from the vault in the high school, only 75 yards from the light in question, we are unable to state, but if the school board has awakened to the idea that the light again in evidence is likely to be a protection to public property, why was the new bulb of only 1,500-watt strength, when the lighting device was provided for one of 2,500-watt calibre, which might have cost the town possibly only 20 cents or less additional per week?

This question is of little moment, but interests an ENQUIRER.

C. S. McCauley RETIRE AFTER VARIED CAREER

Opened Arden Ave. During Early Years In Business

After 31 years in business on Main St., C. S. McCauley retires on Saturday. For the last four years Mr. McCauley has been carrying on a fruit business and before that had engaged in several different businesses.

Born at Bronte, Mr. McCauley came to Newmarket 51 years ago with his sister, Miss Ada E. McCauley. Thirty-one years ago he opened a fruit and grocery business in the building now occupied by the Imperial Bank and carried on there for ten years.

Then he purchased the old Central hotel and erected the fine McCauley block containing three stores and offices above. For five years he continued his fruit and grocery business in the store now occupied by Hooker's, and then sold out to Hamilton Molyneux. He opened a men's furnishings business in the store now occupied by W. L. Moorthy and after four years sold out to Mr. Moorthy.

Subsequently he engaged in the real estate and insurance business until he suffered a health break-down, going into his present business on his return to health.

Mr. McCauley has been an outstanding citizen and a strong supporter of Trinity United church. During his earlier years in business he purchased the Arden Ave. section, opening and naming that street. The name he took from the McCauley clan castle in Ireland.

MEMBERS OF DEPARTMENT MAKE PRESENTATION

The following address was read at a farewell party given last Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Richardson, who are leaving Newmarket.

Dear Friends:
We, your friends of departments 23 and 24, learned with the deepest regret that you are leaving us to take up your abode at London, to be near your dear daughter who has shown so much concern for you both. It will be our loss and the community of London's gain as we will sadly miss you, both at the department and your home of hospitality, as we always felt the homelike feeling when we entered, and came away feeling better for our visit.

As a slight token of our esteem I am our greatest pleasure for you both to except these small tokens. May the Lord bless you both.

The address was signed by F. Travis and C. Legende, on behalf of the members of the departments at the Office Specialty Mfg. Co.

Hitler Won't Break Peace, Belief Held

Slav And German Races Hopelessly Mixed Together And Somebody Bound To Lose Out In Process Of Unscrambling, Says Picking Speaker

A belief that "Hitler knows that he is signing his own death-warrant" if he brings on a general war and that there is therefore unlikely to be war at the present time was expressed by G. N. T. Widdrington of Pickering College at the Lions club on Monday evening.

Introduced by Alex. N. Belygin, Mr. Widdrington reviewed the history of Czechoslovakia and analyzed the present situation. President Alex. Eves was in the chair.

"About the seventh century there was a Slav invasion of Europe, and there was clashing with the Teutonic races," said Mr. Widdrington. "Ever since then there has been conflict between those two races."

"Czechs are Slavs. So are Slovaks. There is little difference between them. Czechs were under the domination of Germans. The Slovaks were under the domination of the Hungarians and Magyars. The Czechs are better educated than the Slovaks because the Germans are more serious than the pleasure-loving Magyars."

"The Teutonic and Slav races are terribly inter-mixed. They can't be separated. Somebody's going to get the dirty end of the deal. It is just a question of who."

"The Czechs and the Slovaks since the seventeenth century have been under the domination of the Hapsburgs of Austria. Their feeling that they had to become a nation again coincided with a similar desire on the part of the Poles during the nineteenth century. It is ironic that the Poles are now making it difficult for the Czechs and Slovaks."

"Czechoslovakia has been called President Wilson's illegitimate child. I don't think that is true. They were making themselves a thorn in the flesh of the Austrian government throughout the war. They deserted to the enemy in 1918. At the end of the war there was a Czech army fighting in France, and another in Russia that was of great use to the Allies."

"Mazaryk and Benes and one or two others during the war maintained an army for a country that did not exist and before the end of the war formed a provisional Czechoslovakian government. So it was not just a creature of the treaty of Versailles."

"The Czech section of the Russian army after the collapse of the Kerensky government prevented Germans from getting raw materials from Russia and prevented German prisoners from getting back from Siberia to Germany."

"Why was the German area included in Czechoslovakia? The mountain range is the only thing that makes Czechoslovakia militarily defensible."

"There are 15,000,000 people in Czechoslovakia. Eight millions are Czechoslovaks, and there is conflict between the Czechs and Slovaks. There are three and a half million Germans. There are also Ruthenians, Magyars, and other nationalities."

"Hitler came into power because Germany was tired of being kicked around. It was too much to expect any people to stand. The treaty of Versailles was based on the assumption that other nations were disarming."

"Hitler has written a book. Hitler's program is first of all to get all Germans into one Reich. He said today: 'This is absolutely the last territorial demand I am going to make.' He has conveniently forgotten three-quarters of a million Germans in the Italian Tyrol."

"Is he sincere in that? I think he probably is. The danger is of the other countries that are leaning toward him and fascism. Hungary is playing ball with him. Hungary will help tremendously with food problems. If Roumania comes in, he will have oil and be tremendously strengthened. If he had to fight Roumania to get those oil wells, they would be destroyed in the process."

"It seems to me that there is a very good hope that war is not as near as we think. Hitler is not a general. If war breaks out, the limelight will go to the generals. Hitler is really a master word politician. Once war is started, he is entering a field where he cannot control circumstances as he can now. Napoleon was most the master of things when he was at peace. When he went into war he came to grief."

RADICAL PROPOSALS

The Canadian Corps Association has urged "that Canada at this time make comprehensive plans to meet any situation that may arise and provide for:

"(a) Nationalization of Canadian industry for the purpose of furnishing munitions, equipment and aircraft for the use of the empire, without profit;

"(b) Mobilization of our natural resources for the purpose of furnishing a continuous supply of food products and raw materials needed by the empire."

Other Side Of It

We suppose it will be said that such a proposal isn't practical, that it couldn't be carried out without the dominion actually renting or buying the plants and industries in question, and that it would be madness to embark upon such a socialistic experiment in time of war. It will also be said with some fairness that it is unreasonable to deny certain industries the chance of making extra profit in supplying combatants, in the event of war, when every other business, every farm, and every wage-earner who hasn't entered the military services would be receiving extra profits as the result of war.

We Have Learned Something

Nevertheless, even though it be visionary, we welcome the suggestion as evidence that we have learned something since the last war. We may in the heat of this moment of crisis seem as militaristic and as anxious for war as ever, we may seem to have forgotten the horrors of the last war, but here is evidence that we haven't entirely forgotten the incongruity of young men offering their lives in sacrifice for their ideals while older men are enriching themselves at home. If war comes, the dominion will borrow huge sums of money to do its part, the people at home will enjoy a war-time prosperity and generations to come will pay for the two great wars. Perhaps the Canadian Corps Association sees socialism as an inevitable aftermath of another war and would start the process with the outbreak of war. In any event, even the most ardent socialists will hope and pray that there may be no such calamity as war.

ABOUT THE WEATHER

It is generally understood that what appears in the editorial columns of a newspaper represents the viewpoint of the newspaper or the editor, and that the opinion is offered as it would be in conversation with friends, to be agreed with, modified, answered or rejected entirely. Opinions are offered in editorial columns because the public, which pays the piper and calls the tune, expects an editorial page and editorial opinions in its newspapers. We all of us have a weakness for opinions with which we agree, but we should all find stimulating and challenging reasoned opinions with which we disagree. The writer, for instance, enjoys reading the editorials in many different newspapers, daily and weekly, but he would have to be a contortionist to agree with all the opinions expressed. Voltaire said something like this: "I disagree with what you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it." He probably would have said also that this would have been a very dull world for Voltaire if everybody had agreed with him. And so we don't want to be making this world dull for readers by always saying the things we know they will agree with. In fact, we haven't always space to say the things (concerning the weather, for instance) about which we know that our readers are all agreed.

Little Birds In Their Nests Agree?

Last spring, to tell a story in point, we argued in these columns that it was quite all right for married women to work. One faithful reader of The Era disagreed strongly with that opinion, as others probably did, and did not renew her subscription when it became due. She tells the story herself and is now considering renewing the old family weekly, although she doesn't really feel convinced that it is all right for her weekly newspaper to disagree with her opinions. What a bunch of people we would be in Newmarket and northern York county if it were possible for any weekly newspaper to express, 52 times in the year, a number of opinions on the topics of the day, local and general, with which we would all agree. But they are not that kind of people in northern York. They are among the most intellectually alert people of the province.

An Open Forum

That is why it is a pleasure and a privilege to publish a newspaper in this district. Newmarket people and northern York people seem to be able to forget politics, to forget prejudices, and to enjoy hearing an honest opinion. There are a few people who think The Era is of one political party and there are a few who think it is of another party, but there are an increasing number who recognize that it is of no party and turns no griststone, that its opinions are expressed with the hope that they may have intrinsic merit and that they may do some good. They are also expressed with the hope that others, who may be better informed or who see a little additional light, may be moved to sit down and pen a correction or reply or a suggestion, to be published in their own newspaper.

AN UNUSUAL WEEKLY

What an asset a newspaper can be to a community is well illustrated by the Huntingdon Gleaner of Huntingdon, P. Q. The Gleaner has just published a wonderful 75th anniversary number. Published in a village of 1,700 people, the Gleaner has a circulation, strictly paid in advance, of a size approximating that of weeklies in large towns. The Gleaner has established a large printing trade, giving employment to 21 persons, and has recently put in an engraving plant. This well illustrated newspaper goes out to the world weekly, telling of Huntingdon and its constituency. Incidentally, the Gleaner says: "For a weekly newspaper to be founded and carried on for 75 years by father and sons is a rather unique record for Canada." May we point out that it isn't unique, for The Era was published for 82 years by the Jacksons, father and son, with the exception of a year's break in the ownership in 1931-32, and for 79 years of unbroken ownership.

WRONG NUMBER

Sympathy will be felt for the widow of Danny Dodge, who has been bequeathed only $250,000 of her unfortunate husband's $10,000,000. If she is content with the $250,000, the former Gore Bay telephone operator may have a very happy life, but if she should succeed in getting a "fair share" of the estate she will probably spend the rest of her life "dodging" sharpers and racketeers.

MINISTER'S SALARIES

The general council of the United Church of Canada has been meeting in Toronto. The secretary of the home missions board, Rev. Dr. R. B. Cochrane, told the council that the church is paying "a disgraceful salary for ministers on the Canadian frontier." Dr. Cochrane said: "You expect us to do twice the work on a quarter of the money." Not only the frontier salaries, but many of the salaries right here in old Ontario are low. We believe that there is something to be said for a regional sharing of costs of minister's salaries. This applies not only to the United church, but to any other large church, but take the United church as an example. Trinity United church, Newmarket, in ten, 15 or 20 years time will have as its minister probably one of the many young men who are today holding a country charge. If the salaries in those rural charges are too low to attract the ablest type of young men, Trinity United church, Newmarket, will feel the effects of those low salaries in the course of time. The same thing applies to the city churches. They have a similar interest in making the salaries in rural charges attractive.

Rural Minister's Case

Another point is that the country minister sends more sons into the ministry than any other citizen. We believe that the country minister should have a salary that would enable him to send his children to high school and then to university, if they were so adapted, without too much sacrifice. As it is, the average rural minister receives a salary which is really not adequate, in spite of the fact that rural church supporters are usually more generous than town or city church supporters. The only solution seems to be a sharing of costs.

DEATH WITH A RIFLE

That was a most unfortunate accident which occurred near Carleton Place recently. Three men were out hunting, two of them carrying rifles. They were looking for groundhogs. One of the men with a rifle separated from the other two men. The remaining two saw a partridge, the one with a rifle following it up. Suddenly he fired into the bush at what he thought was the partridge. It was the checked hat of the third member of the party, who died instantly. The young man, only 35, left a wife, two sons, and a daughter. When hunting begins, the safest place is at home, reading the war news.

INDUSTRY LIKES TOWN MANAGER

Two advocates of the town manager form of government addressed a meeting in Orillia. One was the manager of the town of East Detroit, and in his town of 7,000 people property was assessed at 40 per cent of its value and the tax rate was 40 mills. The other man was a Chatham citizen, who said that Chatham with the city manager form of government has the lowest per capita debt of any town or city in the province. This city of 18,000 people owes only $100,000, which they were forced to borrow to build a new bridge across the Thames to accommodate a provincial highway.

Industry Attracted

Both men were enthusiastic about the city manager form of government. The Chatham man said that the council formulated policy and the manager carried it out. The manager could spend only up to $200 without council authority. The tax rate was 34 mills on a $14,000,000 assessment. An interesting point made was that a large motor corporation had located a parts factory in Chatham recently and the speaker believed it was the consistently economical management of the town's affairs that had brought the factory to the city.

And the Sudetenites will be singing: "Germans never, never, never will be Slavs."

President Alex. Eves told the Lions club on Monday evening that "in a couple of nutshells, as Andy says," the club is going to put an end to this "shell out" business and entertain the children in the arena on Halloween. When all the youngsters in town get to work on "President Alex." with cries of "shell out," we fear that he will need more than "a couple of nutshells." Merchants and householders will appreciate his courage.

Not a week goes by that there aren't a few crashes as fenders mangle on our Main St. No serious damage seems to result, because the cars are practically always proceeding at a snail's pace, but a scraped fender is hardly a good advertisement for our town. The body which should take this problem, and a solution for it, to the town council, is the merchant's association, but, alas, such a body does not exist.

A No. 7 highway association is being formed. That reminds us. Isn't it time to discuss again the central Ontario highway?

The Common Round

By Isabel Inglis Colville
 AT THE SCHOOL FAIR

All fairs depend to a great extent, for their success, on the weather. We humans, being sensitive to climatic changes, are prone to say, on a rainy day, "Oh, it hardly seems worthwhile to make the effort to go here, or to go there, as the case may be."

So, it seems to me, that a fair which can be a success, in spite of rain, must have a pretty strong drawing power.

I must confess, that on Monday, the 19th, when the rain fell and the sky looked like a leaden canopy, that my enthusiasm waned, and I said to myself in justification, "All school fairs are alike, anyway."

Now, had it been a nice day, I'd have felt that there were heaps of things I wanted to see and hear, but it wasn't a nice day.

However, when a friend telephoned that she was going, and had room for me, I donned rubbers, a hat of ancient vintage and a returning enthusiasm, and it was "heigh ho, come to the fair!" When we arrived, the children were standing in the rain, singing.

I visioned sundry coughs and colds, as the steady drizzle penetrated thin dresses and the damp grass soaked small feet, but it did not dampen the ardor of those who sang and drilled, and perhaps the very warmth of that arduous kept chills and ills at bay. The drill is always pretty and enjoyed by onlookers as much—perhaps more—than by the participants.

Not knowing much about stock-judging, I thought I might think it's the judge who are at fault, for they never choose the animal for prizes which I think should have them—I didn't watch this, but waited for the opening of the hall.

They say people learn by experience. Well—maybe—but, in spite of the fact that I've attended school fairs for a good many years—there is one thing I have never learned, that is to wait to see the exhibits.

So, as we always do, Marjorie Forbes and I, taking our lives in our hands, joined the crowd going into the hall.

Did I say "joined?" We were borne on a cyclonic tide of small human waves!

"Ours not to reason why, Ours but to stand or die."

We saw—absolutely nothing! "Well," said I to Marjorie, "perhaps next year we'll wait."

"Yes, perhaps," said she, some-

THE BIRDS DON'T UNDERSTAND IT

BY RUTH DINGMAN HEBB

"This is a lovely garden to be staying in," said the first Junco. "The birds are just thick here these glorious days, and the late autumn flowers are simply gorgeous."

"I have just one objection to it," answered the Junco. "These warm days when they have lots of windows open means that we can hear the radio from the house, going on and on and on."

"But don't you listen to the war news?" asked a third. "There seems to be nothing but that on the radio these days."

"Yes, I listen sometimes," answered the second Junco, "but it all puzzles me very much. What is the use of the humans having a great big war between one country and another? We don't have anything as foolish as that in birdland."

"We have quite a number of murders in birdland," put in the fourth Junco. "Think of all the small birds that are killed by the Hawks and other birds of prey."

"Yes, but the occasional murder is certainly very different from war—which, I think, is simply organized murder," said the third Junco. "And it isn't as if it were a case of a great big person attacking a little person, like the Hawk attacking the Sparrow. The humans are all just about the same size and, except for some slight difference in color and song, they look as if they were all pretty much alike. Yet they go out and try to kill each other. I simply don't understand it."

"I think it's a question of getting each other's territory," put in the first Junco. "But why fight over that? It's true, we have the occasional skirmish over territory rights in the spring-time, but for the most part, a male bird just goes and sings in a certain spot and the others know it's his territory and leave him alone."

"Imagine how silly it would be, for instance, for all the Song-sparrows to band together and fight all the Chickadees or all the Nuthatches," said the second Junco. "When it was all over, most of them would be dead, on both sides, and those who were left wouldn't be very well off even if they did win, because the place would have been pretty well wrecked in the process of the fight."

"And it would be even sillier for all the Nuthatches to fight all the Chickadees," added a Nuthatch listening to the conversation. "Because we are very close neighbors. We birds are usually pretty well able to live side by side in the woods and fields in peace—all kinds of us."

"What do we do, though, when some bully, like a Starling, comes along?" asked the second Junco. "I believe in getting out of his way and letting him have what he wants, even if it is a big disappointment for me," said the third Junco.

"I disagree with that viewpoint," immediately chimed in the fourth Junco. "I would gather as many of my friends together as I could and try to frighten him away—even if we actually had to come to blows."

"Yes, that's all very well," said the third Junco, "but you and your friends might be killed or injured during the fight. Do you want to take the responsibility for the death or injury of your friends?"

"No, but I still think that would be the only thing to do," said the other.

"There are certainly two sides to the question," said the second Junco. "I can see that the humans may have quite a problem on their hands, too. And I certainly hope that they can settle it without going to war, because surely they would be worse off when it was over than they were before it started. You would think that with all the modern ways of talking things over with each other that they have, they would be able to agree on something."

"There's that radio, again," the first Junco told them. "Let's listen. Wouldn't it be nice if we birds in the north could talk to our friends wintering in the south, like the humans can talk from one side of the world to another. You'd think they'd all be very friendly with each other, wouldn't you?"

POLICE COURT Ate Free Meal— Hurt Officer

Austin Thayer and Donald Powell said that the price of 40 cents for a meal of bacon and eggs at Ham Wong's restaurant in Sultton was unreasonable, and refused to pay. Ham Wong told Magistrate Robert Forsyth in police court here Tuesday.

Constable Wm. Burke complained that the two men had resisted arrest. He exhibited a broken set of braces, and said that he had to go to Dr. O. M. Beattie for medical attention.

"I was trying to stop Mr.

Burke to explain to him and sympathize with him," said Mr. Thayer.

"The officer has had a lot of trouble up there, and I think people should be made to realize that he is an officer of the law and has to be respected," said Mr. Mathews.

"It was a cowardly assault that you made on the officer and it can't be tolerated," Magistrate Forsyth told the two men.

The two men had been drinking, according to the evidence of Constable Burke and Constable Sandy McCallum.

On a charge of fraud each was fined $1 and costs of $6.70. On a charge of resisting arrest, Mr. Thayer was fined $1 and $6 costs, and Mr. Powell was fined $3 and $6 costs.

Pleading guilty to a charge of willfully doing damage to lights at Shadow Lake Camp, the property of the T. Eaton Co., T. W. Hoskinson and Frank Dawson, both of Aurora, were each fined $5 and costs.

"We had a lot of trouble this summer with damage done to the lights at the entrance to Shadow Lake Camp," said Constable Robert Windsor of Whitchurch township.

We saw the two men at about 3:10 a.m. in a car," said Constable Robert Windsor. "They admitted they had broken the lights. They couldn't say why. They had been drinking."

"I don't know why I did it," said Mr. Dawson. "I have no excuse."

"Have you a naturally playful nature?"

"No, this is the first time I have been in any trouble like this."

"They have been broken four times this year," said Constable Windsor.

"Did you do that?" asked the magistrate.

"No," said Mr. Dawson.

"I can understand children doing something like this, but not grown men," said the magistrate. "What have you to say Hoskinson?"

"Nothing."

Failing to appear, Emerson Faris was ordered to pay costs and $14.25 wages to Lambert Hamilton, or ten days.

Stating that there was evidence of a counter-claim, and that the case should be heard in division court, the magistrate dismissed a wage claim brought by Walter Worville against Bert Scott, East Gwillimbury.

Worville, 19 years old, told Mr. Mathews that he had been hired for seven months at $15 a month and that he had worked from April 1 until Aug. 18.

"Why did you quit?" asked N. L. Mathews, K. C., crown attorney.

"His boy and I got in a row, and I quit," said Worville.

Worville said that he had received $28.95 and that $39 was owing to him.

T. L. Monahan, K. C., Toronto, said that Mr. Scott had been put to expense by having to hire help late in the season.

"When you left on Aug. 18 were you complaining about your wages?" asked Mr. Monahan.

"When I went to him he would give me 35 or 50 cents," said the complainant. "What's that to a hired man to go to town with?"

In reply to Mr. Monahan, Worville said that Mr. Scott's son had thrown potatoes at him and said he hadn't.

"I called him a liar and then we clinched," said Worville.

"I had to hire girls to pick up potatoes," said Mr. Scott. "I couldn't get a man. My horses are standing idle. My work is going behind."

"What's that costing you?"

"Seven dollars a day," said Mr. Scott.

"For how long?" asked the magistrate.

"Three weeks."

"Seven dollars a day for 21 days," commented the magistrate.

"You say he was worth $7 a day to you, and you paid him 50 cents a day?" asked Mr. Mathews.

"Yes."

"You wouldn't call that profiteering?"

"No."

"It was a very busy time on your farm and yet you were able to go road grading?"

"Yes."

"Did you try to get anyone else?"

"Yes. I couldn't get anyone."

"Did you see the agricultural representative?"

"No."

"Did you see the relief officer in Newmarket?"

"Yes."

"When?"

"Last year."

"Did he give you any help then?" asked Mr. Monahan.

"No."

"So you didn't go to him again?"

"No."

A charge of manslaughter against Charles William Hutton of Stayner as the result of the death of Charles Webster of Aurora in a motor accident on Labor Day was withdrawn.

"I am going to ask that this charge be withdrawn," said N. L. Mathews, K. C. "The coroner's jury exonerated the driver. It was an accident. I am offering no evidence and ask that the charge be withdrawn."

Three young men, Russell Woodford, Rex Woodford and William Dennison were fined $10 and costs of $9 on convictions for consuming liquor in a public place. They were charged with "having."

Charges of creating a disturbance against the Woodfords were dismissed. Dennison was "re-manded for sentence" on a similar charge.

"The accused, Russell Woodford, got into Joe Pollock's car, on the Main St.," said Constable Kenneth Mount. "He said that he was just taking the car up the street for a joke. The two other boys came across the street. They all gave me wrong names."

"I called Constable Sloss, and Constable Fleury came with him," said Constable Mount. "They had a car of their own down the street and Constable Fleury found this bottle of wine in the car."

"Why did you lay a charge of disturbance?"

"They were swearing and shouting on the street," said Constable Mount. "When they were put in the cells, one of the boys asked if they could have the wine in the cells. He said they were getting dry."

Constable Aubrey Fleury confirmed this evidence. Chief Constable James Sloss said that the three boys were pretty drunk.

"They said that they had bought the liquor together," said Chief Constable Sloss. "They had been at Lake Simcoe, and drove down to Newmarket for something to eat."

R. C. Morrison, merchant, said that he had come out of his store at 1:30 a.m. on Sunday and that they were making an unbecoming disturbance.

"Wine seems to have a peculiar effect," said Russell Woodford. "It makes you do things you wouldn't do under the influence of other liquor."

He said that he was a caretaker for the Toronto board of education.

"Who was driving the car?" the magistrate asked Rex Woodford.

"My brother."

"You are lucky you didn't have a worse end to your trip," said the magistrate.

"We thought we were capable of taking the car home," was the answer.

"They are guilty of having on the evidence, but I would be satisfied with a conviction for consuming," said Mr. Mathews.

In spite of his claim that he had given his collie to Wellington Curtis, dog tax collector and pound-keeper, Nick Zogolo, Newmarket, was ordered to pay the license fee of $2 and costs into court. He was given a week to pay.

Mr. Curtis said that Zogolo still had the dog and hadn't obtained a license last year.

Three other persons paid their license fees and costs without appearing.

Frank M. Waller, reckless driving, Constable A. O. Ferguson, $10 and $11 costs.

Nicholl Kingsmill, speeding, Constable Ferguson, $10 and costs.

James Hogg, reckless driving, Constable Ferguson, $10 and costs.

Douglas Kirkup, bad lights, Constable Ferguson, $5 and costs.

Harold L. Ball, speeding, Constable Ferguson, $10 and costs.

The fall fair, which was held here last Friday and Saturday was favored with fine weather, which was a happy surprise following five days' rain with the climax on Thursday, when the tail end of the severe Atlantic seaboard storm struck here.

A good crowd attended all attractions. The dance on Saturday night drew a large crowd of young people from near and far. Aurora Boys' band was a new feature during the day. There was an unusually large number of exhibits in the hall in every class, so that, all in all, the old fall fair has not quite died out yet. It is a great place to meet old friends.

DECLARES HE DIDN'T

Annex No. 3?

"Yes, we tried to stamp out the fire and couldn't. I smell it for oil, but could smell nothing."

"Who called you to the fire?" asked K. M. R. Stiver, defence counsel.

"Central."

Mr. Culverwell said that he reached the fire at about 11.30 p.m.

"How long would you say the fire had been going?"

"About 20 minutes."

Harry W. Sanders of Stouffville said that he was a joint owner of the Lakeview House with his brother, Arthur B. Sanders, Sr.

"Who is the manager?"

"I am."

"What does your brother do?"

"He manages the golf course."

Mr. Sanders placed the damage on the buildings at between $8,000 and $9,000.

When the alarm was given, he went out in his night-clothes, he stated.

"Another nephew, Bob Sanders, was there, shouting that the Beach house was on fire," Mr. Sanders said.

"Was there anything in the Beach house likely to cause a fire?" asked Mr. Mathews.

"No, it had been closed for the season."

"Were you on good terms with the accused?"

"He came into the House on different occasions, the worse for liquor, and we had words," said Mr. Sanders. "I think he thought he should be running the place. He swore at me on different occasions."

"Your brother, Arthur B. Sanders, shares the loss equally with you?" asked Mr. Stiver.

"Yes."

"And he is the father of the accused?"

"Yes."

"Does the accused live up there?"

"Yes, he lives with his father in his father's cottage."

Alfred Edward Thomas, Stouffville, who was employed at the Lakeview House, said that he had made sketches of the buildings presented to the court.

He said that the accused man on the day of the fire had borrowed his bicycle to go to town. When he returned, he was "a little unsteady." Thomas said that he had nailed up the previous day the lavatory where the fire seemed to start.

Miss Helen Rowbotham, Stouffville, hostess, said that Arthur Sanders, Jr., had rushed in at one point and said: "A third building is on fire. Is there anything we can do?"

Mark Shung, the chef, said he had found Arthur Sanders, Jr., under the sink in the kitchen.

"He said he wanted something to eat," said Mr. Shung. "He said his father and the boss didn't treat him right. He said he would do something that would make them sorry. I didn't pay much attention. He had said things like that so often before that I didn't pay much attention."

"He asked repeatedly that I shouldn't tell the boss I had seen him. I said I wouldn't if he just wanted something to eat and wasn't going to do anything foolish. He said the boss wasn't treating his father right, and that his father was taking it out on him. He said he was going to sacrifice his life for his father and family, and that he would be arrested in the morning, and be put in the penitentiary."

"That's enough evidence," said the magistrate. "Have you anything to say before I commit you for trial?"

"Nothing, except that I am not guilty."

Era printing costs little.

Folliott, Fry Lead In Athletic Events

Knowles Misses Championship Mark By Slender Margin

Climaxing a fine day's effort with a win in the mile race, Howard Folliott took the senior boys' championship in the Aurora high school field day on Monday, with a total of 32 points. Next in line was Paul Knowles, who had 31 points. Paul, also entered in the mile event, stumbled and mistimed his sprint, and so failed to place. Had he come even in fifth place, he would have tied for the championship.

Trevor Graham, who specialized in the sprinting, and Dudley Wilcox, who looked best in the standing broad jump and shot put, were also high in point-gathering.

P. Hughey ran up a high total of points to romp home with the junior boys' championship, with J. Jennings showing style in some events.

Mac Fry led the senior girls and Elizabeth Wilcox the juniors, while Isabel Walkington led in the midge class. All three girls turned in splendid efforts, with plenty of tough competition.

Seek Stronger Hockey Defense

A brief meeting of members of the executive of the Aurora Hockey club was held on Tuesday night. It was not a formal meeting, however, its purpose being to inquire into the material available for this year's team.

The club is faced with the task of finding players who can take the place of the famous front line of Wilson, Wrightman and Mair, and with filling the gap left by the burly defenseman, Clarence James. Plenty of hockey material was at hand, it was found, but there is a definite lack of experienced players.

This lack is particularly evident in the defense line-up, and it was to find means of remedying this that the executive met. A full meeting will be called later on.

SIXTEEN RECORDS FALL IN HIGH SCHOOL MEET

The Aurora high school field day on Monday turned out to be a record-breaker in every sense of the word, with 16 new marks set.

Mac Fry broke the senior girls' high jump record with a mark of 4 feet 6½ inches, the running broad jump with a mark of 14 feet 9½ inches, the 100 yard dash, with a mark of 12 seconds, and the standing broad jump with a mark of 7 feet 8½ inches.

Trevor Graham set a new mark of 23 4-8 seconds for the 220 yard race and Howard Folliott made a record when he ran the 440 yard race in 52 2-5 seconds.

Barbara Grimes made the junior girls sit up and take notice when she cleared 7 feet 7½ inches in the standing broad jump.

BELHAVEN Bertha Sheppard Is Bride In U.S.A.

A wedding of interest to the Belhaven district was solemnized in Sherwood, Oregon, on Sept. 10, when Miss Bertha Alma Sheppard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. True Sheppard, formerly of Belhaven, became the bride of Watson Samuel Thornton, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Thornton of Seattle, Wash. The wedding took place at the Sherwood Methodist Episcopal church.

The bride, who was born in Belhaven, lived there until eleven years ago. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Washington Winch of Belhaven and the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sheppard of Belhaven.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown, with the full-length tulle veil which was worn by her aunt, Mrs. Morton Winch, of Orillia, Ont. She carried talliesman roses and bouvardia.

Miss Alice Jane Gillis of Seattle, maid of honor, wore lavender chiffon with wide velvet girdle of deeper shade, and carried yellow pom-pom dahlias.

Miss Grace Rucker of Sherwood and Miss Mary Ellen Williams of Camden wore similar picture dresses of rose and peach moire and carried lavender pom-pom dahlias. Frank Thornton of Seattle was his brother's best man.

A reception for close relatives and friends, at the home of the bride's parents, followed the ceremony. Mrs. C. A. Sheppard of Portland, Mrs. Thos. Kilpatrick of Sherwood, Frederick Rucker of Sherwood presided at the table.

The bride, who is a member of the Zeta Tau Alpha sorority, graduated in June from the University of Oregon, while the bridegroom is a graduate of the University of Washington.

Everything looks beautiful these sunny days, after the all-night and all-day rain last week. It is regretted that the Elmhurst Women's Institute will be unable to visit this branch until after Christmas, when Belhaven hopes to have them.

The October meeting will be held in the hall on Oct. 11.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Cooke, Mrs. A. J. Wilson and Mr. Hancock of Toronto had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Winch on Monday.

Mrs. Robertson is home from the hospital and is improving in health.

Play Hosts To Newmarket Club

Members of the Aurora Bowling Club were hosts to about 40 Newmarket bowlers on Monday evening. A warm evening, free from dew, made it ideal for bowling and the event was thoroughly enjoyed.

A lunch was served following the bowling and a prize for high score was presented to the team composed of B. A. Budd and V. Goring of Newmarket, and C. Williamson and Mrs. C. Bilbrough, of Aurora.

High spot of the evening was the play-off between the rink of Les. Riley and that of Harry Helmer, who were tied for low score. Harry Helmer's team won the event, so the consolation prize was awarded to the team composed of Mrs. Chas. Willis, Dan Webster, Claude White, and Les. Riley.

Processing Started In Dehydrating Firm

Experimenting At Present, Hope For Manufacturing Later On

Work of the dehydrating company which took over occupation of the buildings of the former match factory in Aurora this spring reached an important point on Tuesday, when the first machine, to be used in experiments in processing yeast, was put in motion.

This marks the launching of the firm in a new step in its series of experiments in the drying of foods in Aurora.

The firm is interested primarily in the development of machinery for drying of food products, and not in the manufacture and sale of the food products themselves. The Era learned on Tuesday from Frederick Clark, president of the firm.

KETTLEBY Pen of Sheep Wins At Barrie

The Women's Guild held a quilting at the parish hall on Tuesday of this week. Mr. Carl Black and Miss M. Ingram of Maple spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. A. Nicholls of London.

Mrs. Arthur Webster and son, Cecil, of Toronto were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Clarkson. Mr. Wm. Ramsden of Port Credit attended the harvest home services of the Baptist church and visited among relatives on Sunday.

Congratulations are forthcoming to C. W. Walton on winning the shield for the best pen of Oxford sheep at the Barrie fair last week; he has been very successful at a number of the other surrounding fairs. The United harvest home services will be held on Sunday, Oct. 2, at 11 a.m., with Rev. Mr. Snell of Toronto as special speaker, and in the evening at 7.30 p.m. with the minister, Rev. Mr. Burton in charge, and special music from Toronto. The many friends of Mr. J. P. Curtis will be sorry to learn that he sustained a broken wrist while at work on Friday of last week.

KING WON'T TAKE

OLD TOLL ROAD

A motion was passed at the regular meeting of King township council held at Nobleton on Saturday, again refusing acceptance of the Old Bradford toll road, from Holland Landing to the limits of the township, which the County of York had notified the council that they were turning back to the township. All members were present at the meeting. The council's motion said that they would be in no way responsible for any damages or maintenance on this road and that the squatters on the land between the railway tracks and the road, which had never been assessed in the township and does not appear to have been on the rolls of this township, are no charge or responsibility on this municipality. Hospitalization charges for an indigent were refused by the council on the grounds that the reeve had made all necessary arrangements for his commitment to the Industrial Home.

J. D. Lucas, township solicitor, was asked to appeal to the Ontario Municipal Board regarding the Mary Lake Farm assessment. The clerk was authorized to levy for the sum of $938.08, the King township share of marsh maintenance for 1937.

Sheep claims were paid to the following: Jas. McKinley, $10; Walter Proctor, $8.

The following general accounts were passed: Jos. Sutton, council meeting, $5; Mrs. A. Gillham, hall rent for meeting, $10; G. Farquhar, police services, $14; Arthur Wellesley, school attendance work, $7.05; Arthur Wellesley, weeds, $4.10; H. G. Rose, birth, deaths, marriages, $3; Woodbridge & Vaughan Telephone, phone, $6.30;

North York Registry office, fee, $3; P. V. Schomburg, A. Kennedy, fire, $40; Chas. Fell, P. V. Schomburg, $13.40; Carr Transport, 50 cents; Canadian National Institute for the Blind, $20; Maurice Hayward, constable services, $13.20; Chas. Hunt, $30.

Relief voucher, $235.25; road voucher No. 27, $813.37; road voucher No. 28, $195.92.

EXPECT TO SHIFT

CONSTABLE WESTWARD

Last Friday's bank robbery at King has given impetus to the plan to redistribute the personnel of York county police force.

Acting Chief George Stuart recommended that Constable Anthony Crouch be stationed at Schomburg or King City. The recommendation has been adopted by the police committee.

THE OSTREKOFF JEWELS

By E. Phillips Oppenheim

A GREAT NOVEL OF LOVE AND ADVENTURE

INSTALLMENT 30

The Jewels at Last

The Ostrekoff jewels! There they lay, in wild profusion, spread out upon the library table of Wilfred Haven's house, in Grosvenor Square, displayed to the human eye for the first time since that young man had buckled the chamois belt around his body and locked the satchel attached to his wrist. They had fallen like a flowing cascade on to the table—jewels of all shapes and sizes and colors from the flaming, wine-hued ruby or the lizard-green emerald to the flawless, scintillating white fire of a diamond. Some, the emeralds especially, had been torn in haste from ancient settings, and fragments of the gold of a massive Russian tiara, with the jewels still embedded in them, were mingled with the rest. In the background—a grim suggestion of the dangers with which their very existence was linked—stood two of Felix Drayton's men, alert and watchful. Farther away still, Felix Drayton himself watched and wondered, although he alone had any idea of what might take place.

There was not a person in the room who could look down upon that table's glittering burden unmoved. The silent drama of the display seemed to have fired even the blood old Colonel Ollastransky, who stood gazing at the jewels with upraised hands, muttering to himself, "Elisaveta was clinging feverishly to Haven's arm, her glorious eyes filled with a sort of lambent fire. The joy of the jewels seemed to have intoxicated her. It was with difficulty that her companion kept her from falling upon them bodily.

"Tell me again," she begged.
"What happened? How did it come about that they were returned to you?"
"Ask Mr. Drayton," Haven replied. "He knows as much about it as I do."

"And that is not very much," Felix Drayton put in. "They were brought to my house at 11 o'clock this morning in an iron coffer. The manager of my own bank, in South Audley street, was with them and two of his clerks. I signed the receipt, sent for some of my men and brought them around here."

"But I want to know who stole them," Elisaveta demanded, passionately. "How do we know that they are all here? There may be some missing."

"There are," an unexpected voice from the threshold declared. "Two emeralds. I sold them because—well, I had to. One must live."

All eyes were turned toward the door, which had been silently opened a moment before by the butler. Anna Kastellane stood there, with Slavoff leaning upon her arm.
"I told your man not to announce us, Wilfred," she continued. "I thought that our joint names might upset this little company."

Madame Ollastransky, who had been standing at the end of the table, collapsed into an easy-chair, dumb, but with a strange, questioning expression in her eyes. Her husband adjusted his horn-rimmed monocle with trembling fingers and stared uncomprehendingly at the new arrivals. Haven would have hurried to Anna's side, but she held up her hand to restrain him.

"I have repented of my indiscretion, you see," she continued, pointing to the table. "I restore to you your jewels, Wilfred. You trust finishes here and now. It has brought you all the adventure you want, I should think, for the rest of your life."
Elisaveta was laughing almost hysterically.
The newcomers meant nothing to her, except that she realized this must be the girl who had shared Haven's perilous journey and of whom from the first she had been vaguely jealous.

"So this was the mysterious thief!" she cried. "Well, that is all over now. You will not have to part with your money, after all, Wilfred. Let us put them back into the iron box. Afterward, will you come to the bank with Colonel Ollastransky and me and Mr. Drayton? Your trust will be over then. We must sell a great many of them, because we have not any money, but I shall have some made up. We will choose together."

She leaned toward the table, but Anna, who had been busy establishing Slavoff in a chair, turned around.

"Not quite so fast, please," she begged. "It is true, Wilfred, that you trust me over. You have brought these jewels, through many dangers, to Princess Elisaveta Ostrekoff from her father and mother. That is so, is it not?"
"It certainly is," Haven assented. "Trust or no trust, I'm mighty glad to get rid of them. Pack them up, Elisaveta, and take them round to the bank."

Anna Kastellane laughed softly. She laid her hand affectionately upon his shoulder.
"A bank, I think, would be a very good place," she said, "but first of all, I must let me thank you. I know better than any one what you have been through in order to keep your trust, and I was the only one who made you think for a moment that you had betrayed it. I am sorry about that. It was an ill-considered action, but—"

"What are you talking about?" Elisaveta interrupted, with a sudden bewildered fear dawning in her eyes.
"I am trying to thank Mr. Haven," Anna Kastellane replied, "for having brought me the jewels from my father and mother. I am the Princess Elisaveta Ostrekoff. Who are you?"

There was an astonished and spellbound silence, broken only by the sound of Madame Ollastransky's voice in the background. No one in the room was more completely astonished than Haven.

"But you are Anna Kastellane!" he gasped.
She shook her head.
"Anna Kastellane has been the name which I have borne through the burden of many adventures," she declared. "It was as Anna Kastellane that I left home when I was 17 years old and became a student at the Moscow University. It was as Anna Kastellane that I became a Socialist. It was as Anna Kastellane that I reverted to sane principles, when I saw how foul a thing the long-wished-for revolution had become and, pretending to carry on my work for the revolutionaries, became a spy for the monarchists. I saved many lives in those last few months. I should have saved the lives of my own mother and father if they would have listened to me. It is a very easy matter to prove that I am the Princess Elisaveta Ostrekoff. If you want to know your history," she added, turning not unkindly to the girl by her side, "ask Colonel and Madame Ollastransky."

Colonel Ollastransky had been born a gentleman and served his life as a soldier. His withered hands were shaking; his eyes, in which had always lurked the shadow of some fear, were closed now in a sort of convulsive horror. He spoke as though with a sob in his throat.
"The child is your sister," he muttered. "She has a right to something."

On Sunday next the Carville congregation will observe their anniversary services afternoon and evening. As this will necessitate Mr. Macdonald being absent from Victoria Square church, the Young People's Union will have charge of the service in the afternoon.

Next Monday evening, the congregation will meet in the church to make arrangements for the anniversary services and fowl supper in November.

Those who were privileged to be present at the prayer service on Tuesday night last heard a very fine address by Rev. Mr. Haig. It is always good to see new faces at these weekly services, but needless to say there is room for a lot more.

It is with deep regret that it is reported that Mrs. Alvin Caseley has been removed to the hospital.

WHY DOES ANYBODY BORROW FROM A BANK?

WHY does anybody borrow money? Here is the answer: Usually to make a profit or to use the money for his advantage.

Be the borrower a farmer, marketing organization, lumberman, miner, fisherman, rancher, manufacturer—none ever borrows from a bank and pays interest except to gain a benefit outweighing the interest charges.

Every Canadian dollar represents tangible wealth already produced, or wages paid for services rendered.

Every Canadian dollar issued can be described accurately as to purpose, as a wealth-producing, wage-paying, profit-seeking dollar.

Occasionally some borrowed dollars become temporarily deadweight debt—perhaps you suffer a loss for a season through drought or other natural calamity. But with a better season, better prices and brighter business, the loaner has a chance to recover his losses.

"I borrow $1,000 from the bank, paying interest because the bank is rendering me a service," one man instances. He goes on thus:

"Why do I borrow the $1,000?"

"To use in a business deal and make a profit."

"My deal concluded successfully, I repay the bank and have a profit of say $100, which I put to my credit in the bank."

"The bank has back its $1,000 and interest, and I have $100 I didn't have before."

"Multiply that borrowing of mine, my use of the money, my repayment and my profit, by many borrowers, day after day, and you see what is happening as a continuous revolving process throughout the year in the business world."

A farmer borrows for seed, cultivation or harvesting; a fisherman borrows or bait, boat or wages; a manufacturer borrows against raw materials being fabricated, to pay wages to finish and market his goods—but none of these borrows except in the hope of profit to himself, in supplying the needs of others.

Banking is not mysterious.

A farmer's co-operative marketing organization uses bank credit so that the farmer may get cash for his crop at the elevator without waiting for it to reach Liverpool.

A merchant borrows from the bank and is enabled to pay his bills early, take advantage of discounts, and pass part of his saving on to his customers.

A small farmer with 20 hogs borrowed $50 for feed, paid $1.75 interest and was enabled to sell his hogs for $100 more than he would have got on an earlier market. His net profit was $18.75. That is an authentic case. Here is another:

A hog-raiser on a large scale paid $100 interest on a loan for feed. He writes us that he made a net profit of nearly $2,000.

These are instances of the kind of services bank credit, exchanged for individual credit, performs as an everyday routine in Canada. Any community can supply scores of similar examples.

What is money?

Coinage, Bank of Canada notes, bank notes, deposits.

Chartered banks now issue their notes up to a legal limit of 85 per cent of their paid-up capital. Yearly this is being reduced and the right of note-issue as steadily vested in the Bank of Canada.

A chartered bank's notes are the first charge on its assets. In case of trouble they must be paid off before a single cent can be paid on deposits or on any other debts owed by the bank. To make doubly sure that notes will be redeemed, each bank pays into a fund held by the Minister of Finance, an amount of cash equal to five per cent of the average of its bank notes outstanding. This is called the "Bank Circulation Redemption Fund." The total of this fund is available for the purpose of redeeming the outstanding notes of any bank.

Notes of the Bank of Canada are money—legal tender—cash—that Bank's notes and deposits are backed (July 30, 1938) by 56.26 per cent of gold and silver bullion and foreign exchange.

Notes of the chartered banks, too, are money—their promises to pay every dollar backed by more than twenty dollars of assets. They are redeemable, on demand, in cash.

Your deposit in a chartered bank also is money—you can buy things with it. It arose from your labour, production and thrift. It is redeemable in cash. It is a measure of your real wealth. You may make payments by cheque upon it. When your cheque goes through the Clearing House system, it must be met by the bank on which it is drawn. Any balances as between banks have to be settled in cash daily.

Your Canadian dollars are useful factors in a system that produces wealth for all of Canada.

THE CHARTERED BANKS OF CANADA

Your local branch bank manager will be glad to talk banking with you. He will be glad to answer your questions, from the standpoint of his own experience. The next article in this series will appear in this newspaper. Watch for it.

MOUNT ALBERT Visiting Pastors Speak Sunday

Mrs. T. Mather of Kapuskasing has been visiting her mother, Mrs. W. Harrison. The Woman's Association of the United church held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Norman Brooks on Wednesday evening of last week. There were about 25 ladies present and they had as their guests several ladies from the presbytery association. Mrs. Pateman gave a very fine address, one which will be long remembered, and lunch was served at the close of the meeting. The next meeting will be held at Mrs. E. Quibell's home. The concert the Bethesda dramatic club put on in the United church on Tuesday evening last was one of a very unique character and most thoroughly enjoyed by all who heard it.

Rev. R. V. Wilson was in Toronto last week, attending meetings of the general council of the United church.

Mrs. H. Ross and Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, Miss Iola Campbell and Mr. Douglas Campbell, were at Orillia on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Cook.

Mr. Allan Theaker is confined to bed at his home.

Mr. B. Cook is on the sick list and he and Mrs. Cook are at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Sinclair.

The services on Sunday in the United church were taken in the morning by Rev. C. L. Lewis of Kirkton, Ont., a commissioner to the general council, who gave a vivid description of conditions in the west, as he found them this year, while preaching there for six weeks this summer. In the evening, Rev. A. Bushell of Epsom took the service while Rev. Mr. Wilson preached anniversary services at his church.

Miss E. Leek is on a trip to Buffalo and down through New York state.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Watts of Newmarket visited Mrs. Watts' sisters, the Misses F. and G. Brooks, over the weekend.

Mr. Dave Brooks of Port Carling was in town over the weekend.

Mrs. Frank Thompson left on Monday night for a visit to relatives in Western Canada.

EVERSLEY Roast Is Held By King A.Y.P.A.

Surely one of the greatest wonders of the world is the wireless and the radio, bringing messages from the air, from practically all over the world. When the King issues his Christmas greetings, we hear from every corner of the world.

Now we hear daily from the storm centers and peace centers of Europe—from London, Paris, Rome, Berlin and Czechoslovakia—just as easily as though the speakers were in the room with you. Hats off to those who have made this possible, Edison and others! It is a great achievement!

King A.Y.P.A. have made a start with their fall activities. Last Tuesday night they held a weiner roast at the farm home of Lily Anderson. Eversley young people were guests. Around a huge bonfire the young people enjoyed games and sing-songs, and later the weiners.

On Thursday evening Eversley Young People's held their social meeting at the home of Mrs. Chas. Egan, the president. Rev. J. D. Cunningham of Richmond Hill was present and gave an address on "Present Conditions in China."

Rev. Mr. Galloway, pastor of Bethel Baptist church and Mrs. Galloway were guests and Mrs. Galloway sang a hymn, one of deep spiritual tone.

After the regular meeting lunch was served - hamburger being the 'piece de resistance.' The chef was Frank Egan, who knows how to cook these just right. The attendance was very good considering the equinoctial gale which had soaked the earth all day.

On Wednesday evening, Strange Auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. McClure. Several of the Eversley W. M. S. were guests. Rev. and Mrs. Cunningham were present and each gave a message. Mrs. A. McClure read a very interesting paper on "Quilt Patches," a lesson of life taken from the making of quilts. Miss Roberta Gillies read a delightful description of autumn. Mrs. Usher, at the piano, sang two solos. A splendid bale of clothing, valued at over $50 was packed for the work where needed. The usual social hour with lunch followed.

On Saturday, the children of Eversley Sunday-school under 12 years of age were given a treat in lieu of a picnic. They were taken to Aurora and saw the show. Then they were brought back to the home of Mrs. Jones, where the teachers led them in a lot of games and contests with prizes. Lastly there was a real picnic lunch. It was a big day for the boys and girls. On Sunday morning they were all back at Sunday-school again.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Davidson, their son, Leslie, with wife and young son, Harold, motored from their home at Dunedin, near Creemore, on Sunday and visited at Mrs. Gellatly's. They attended the evening service in Eversley church before returning home and were pleased to meet old friends.

When George was a boy, he lived with his aunt, Mrs. Thomas Ferguson, on the present Eaton Hall farm and went to school. He really grew up here and has a fine feeling of kinship with all his old associates.

FILLES AND SWALLOWS
A new angle of why there is a plague of flies in the autumn was told recently. The swallows have gone south. The young swallows were fed on flies, caught as the parent birds swept down through the air. The young swallows have grown and the autumn trip south has begun and the flies are free to crowd toward warmth and shelter.

VANDORF
Bethesda Group
Visits Vandorf

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. R. Scott. The guests were the Bethesda Junior Institute. Mrs. C. Moynihan presided. After singing the opening ode, Mrs. Cale read the Institute creed.

A quilt block was placed on the table in response to the roll call. Members who have not yet handed in their block are asked to please give it to Mrs. R. Scott as soon as possible.

The business of the Vandorf branch was dispensed with as quickly as possible, and the meeting was then in the hands of the visiting branch. Mrs. Hicks presided. A splendid program was given, consisting of music, a reading entitled "Bargain Day," a paper on "Courtesy," and a contest, making as many words as possible from the word institute. Mrs. Chas. Richardson received first prize, having 23 words.

The national anthem was sung and the Vandorf branch served lunch and a social time was enjoyed by all.

The school fair was well attended and proved a success in spite of the dull drizzly day. The pupils of Vandorf school are congratulated on the splendid efforts made to help along their fair and on the number of prizes captured. Special mention of Billy Kingdon, who captured the second highest number of points for the township, is also made.

Miss Anne Willis spent Sunday at her home here, and left for Montreal Sunday night, where she will spend a few weeks working there.

Mrs. David Snider of Stouffville and Mrs. Geo. Campbell of Bimidi, Minn., spent Thursday with Mrs. Herbert Oliver.

KING
Truck And Cars
Smash At King

The condition of George Stone, Jr., who was seriously injured when his car went into the ditch at the corner of the third concession line and King side road, has shown a slight improvement. Mr. Stone had to have six stitches in his neck.

Once again King comes into the limelight with a second bank robbery within a year.

On Saturday evening an accident occurred in the village involving three cars. McDonald's truck was pulling out as George Chapman and his wife of Maple drove along. The brakes failing to work on McDonald's truck, it hit Mr. Chapman's car broadside, turning it over and thus hitting George Rumble's car which was parked. Mr. Chapman's car was damaged to the extent of $50.

Messrs. Ken Davis and Orin Thorpe, with 19 other boys of Toronto, left Monday night to attend a mining school in Haileybury for six months.

Messrs. Gordon Patton and Wesley Dew returned from a week's duck hunting in Muskoka.

Messrs. Wesley Dew of King and Wallace Jennings of Temperanceville have returned to Guelph Agricultural College.

Jack Brown of Temperanceville has entered Guelph Agricultural College.

One of the bus lines conducted one of their mystery tours to Father McGee's community farm on Sunday.

Sunday's harvest home services were well attended at St. Paul's. Joseph McCullay of Pickering College gave the address in the morning and the rector, Rev. A. J. Patstone, spoke in the evening.

The church was most beautifully decorated with grain, flowers, fruit and vegetables for the occasion. There was also a supply of preserves, etc., which were later given to the church

On Monday evening a thanks giving service was held in the church at 8 o'clock when Very Rev. Dean Riley of St. James Cathedral, Toronto, was the speaker.

The Dean spoke at the social gathering after the service in the parish hall, and delighted everybody's heart with his cheery address and pleasant personality. Mrs. Riley accompanied him.
